Campbell Johnston Clark

Shipping, Insurance and International Trade

A discreet, personalised and cost-competitive service

Campbell Johnston Clark (CJC) is an international law firm specialising in shipping and international trade. CJC has undergone sizeable expansion in both numbers of solicitors and geographical spread since it was founded in September 2010. CJC advises on all aspects of the shipping sector and has in-depth knowledge of the industry gathered from years of experience working with financiers, brokers, the insurance market, managers and owners.

Expert, practical and commercially sound advice

The yacht industry is highly specialised and our team deliver a first class service to ensure that clients receive expert, practical and commercially sound advice, based on our in-depth knowledge of changing technologies, building materials and racing requirements.

CJC has extensive experience with a number of high profile yacht casualties, including collision, fire, groundings and salvage, passenger and crew injuries (including Jones Act liability), scuba and diving accidents, and personal watercraft liabilities including jet skis, parasailing and other collateral activities.

We also handle complex yacht litigation and commercial disputes involving, for example, stability issues, keel damage, mast collapse, engine breakdown, fuel contamination, construction contracts, warranty claims and latent defect. Our focus is always to find the most efficient, cost effective solution to any dispute.

On the non-contentious side, CJC prides itself in offering a discreet, and personalised service for the financing, sale, purchase, maintenance, management, design and construction of luxury yachts. CJC has extensive knowledge and experience and is routinely involved in a variety of matters from complex construction projects to tax and ownership structures as well as advising on financing and leasing arrangements.

24-hour global service

We also have legally qualified dedicated master mariner support and offer a 24 hour global service through our London and Singapore offices in handling marine casualties and investigations.

CJC uses its ‘acute understanding of the commercial realities for their clients’ to provide ‘thorough, well-reasoned and accurate advice’ and ‘superb service’, making it ‘one of the most reliable firms in the sector’. Legal 500
